1. Chapter 1: Silph Co Academy

Author's Note:

Hi! Before reading this story let me state a few things. This is my first fanfiction and honestly my writing skills suck! So please forgive me if it is not that good.
>I would like it if you wrote a review for the story to say what is wrong with the story and if I could make it any better. Please constructive criticism and don't bash me too hard. This story borrowed happened to borrow an element(which is kinda the beginning and I didn't even realize it until after I wrote the story.) from another fanfiction called The Return of the Betrayed Guardian. I highly recommend reading that fanfiction because it has done a wonderful job of showing Ash being betrayed. Finally this story is purely for my enjoyment and I want to do it in my spare time. So if you guys like it I would be glad to do more!

Chapter 1. Silph Co Academy.

When a train was slowly coming to a stop, an announcement was made on the intercom.

"We are approaching Silph Co. Academy. Silph Co Academy is the next and final stop. All freshmen please make your way to the entrance and please remember to take all items off the train as you depart. Thank you."

As the train comes to a stop a 17 year old boy moans and yawns.

"Finally made it." A man said after a long nap.

Flashback a few months ago.

On a man is looking over the landscape and pondering on thoughts as a lucario approaches. Despite the lucario not wanting to bother his master he needed to do something.

"Are you still thinking about what happened master? You know people shouldn't be doing that especially on their birthday." A lucario stated.

The man looked at the lucario with a face of no emotion.

"Is that so? I forgot that today was even my birthday. I guess I am seventeen now. Yes I am still thinking about what I could have done to change the outcome."

As the two were talking a delibird approached them. The lucario charged an aura sphere in case of an enemy attack. The delibird however took out a letter and handed it to the man. Once done with the task the delibird took off. Lucario then got rid of the aura sphere and went over to his master.

"What does it say master?"

"I wish you would stop calling me master lucario. I have done nothing to deserve such a title. We are friends and equals." The trainer said. The lucario chuckled a bit as the man read the letter.

Dear Ace Waller,

You have the opportunity to attend the most prestigious school known as Silph Co Academy. If you are wondering why then you shouldn't look to far my friend. I don't need to remind you of your achievements and saving the world a few times have helped you as well. Through a favor from the Academy I was able to get you the chance to attend this academy:Just as many elites and champions have to make their name. Please come attend the academy this year Ace. You earned it after all that you have done for this world.

Scott

Ps I am glad to see you are safe Ash. It took a lot time to track you down even with all my resources.

"The Silph Co Academy huh?" Ash questioned.

"What will you do master?" The lucario said but already knew the answer to.

"Let's gather everyone around! We are heading off to face the world!" Ash shouted.

End of flashback.

Silph Co Academy was a place made for only for the elite. If you were able to graduate from Silph Co you would secure a spot in the world. It was a school for those who wanted to take their Pokemon knowledge to the next who wanted to work in research, doctors, history, and co-ordinators were allowed to come to the school as well. But the Academy was most known for training pokemon to be the best in the world. Even the Pokemon League has made a tournament after the Silph Co Academy calling it The Masters Of The World. Every year they would take the top 10 students against each other for a chance to see the world. Even Champions and the elite four were always interested and would occasionally compete in the competition to show the students how harsh the world can be when it is standing against them.

As Ash stepped of the train he made sure his cloak and hood were up so that way no one can see his face. Before Ash he saw several towering buildings almost touching the clouds. The courtyard was also huge allowing for several buildings for arenas and healing centers. When he entered the building he looked to see multiple areas and one giant arena where a pokemon battle was happening. Ash approached one of the area's he was greeted with an explosion followed by a puff of smoke. When it all cleared up he saw a dragon roaring while a yellow beast was down.

"Electivire is unable to continue! The winner is Dragonitie and Lance!"

"Good work electivire you still need some training. Hmph, I would expected no less from this academy." A purple haired figure stated.

"That was a good battle Paul. You almost managed to beat two of my pokemon. However I think you would need to re-think your strategy and use better techniques for your pokemon." Lance stated.

"I thank you for your words Lance." Paul said before he did a quick bow to show respect.

"By the way Paul have you heard anything about him?" Lance asked now with a serious tone.

"As far as I know he is still dead. But I believe he is closer than we think." Paul saying with a smirk. "I wouldn't be surprised if he attended this very Academy."

"Well that's quite a statement. I will keep an eye out."

Both trainers bowed and exited off the field.

"Well that's one person who still believes I am alive. I will have to be on my guard"

He walked out of the arena started walking courtyard they approached the largest building. In bold letters it read, "SILPH CO ACADEMY MAIN BUILDING" In the main lobby he found a reception desk and a man talking to his battle brains. He still had his usual Hawaii shirt and sunglasses inside (Seriously why are you wearing glasses inside?). As he excused himself away from Brandon and the other battle brains he went up to speak with Ash.

"It's been too long Ace!" Scott said offering a hand. Ash reluctantly shook Scott's hand. This surprised the other battle brains as they wondered who this mysterious person was. "How have you been doing? Been keeping yourself busy?"

"I guess you could say that. I want to offer my thanks Scott. It is a honor to meet your battle brains as well." Ash said bowing before them quickly and returning to the conversation. "So where can I get registered?"

"All taken care of Ace. Here I have your paperwork right here" Scott told Ash as he pulled out a packet of information. "Here is your schedule and what classes you are going to take. Obviously most will be about Pokemon but you also need to take some other classes to graduate."

"Thank you Scott. Um Scott? Not that I want to be rude but your battle brains are kinda staring."

"Ah of course. I haven't told them who you are. Everyone this is Ace. He worked some with the Pokemon Rangers and is a very gifted trainer."

All the battle brains at this point star at Ace in shock. The Pokemon Rangers are one of the most respected groups out there. Not to mention you have to have exceptional skills as a trainer and be at an extremely high level. This all coming from someone who was only 17 years old?

"Nice to meet you Ace! I am Arena Tycoon Greta, this is Pike queen Lucy, and this is Salon Maiden Anabel!" Greta shouted to the top of her lungs. "We are also going to be attending this Academy as well. I look forward to battling you!"

"Looking forward to battling you as well Ace. You must be strong if you were with the Rangers." Lucy stated

"It is a pleasure to meet you Ace. I hope that we are able to battle soon." Anabel shyly said.

"I am looking forward to when we battle" Ash stated with a smirk.

Before any of the other battle brains could speak with Ash,Scott decided get them off of Ash's back.

"Sorry to interrupt but I need to talk with Ace alone if you don't mind. Why don't you guys get ready for the opening ceremony? The other brains can show you around the place to."

"EHHH? Fine come on Lucy and Anabel." Greta said disappointed that she couldn't stick around longer. Lucy was following behind but Anabel was in deep thought. "What's wrong Anabel?"

"Huh? Oh nothing! Just thinking about what the year as in store for us!"

"You were thinking about Ace weren't you? Man Anabel you really know how to pick them!" Greta said smirkly.

"It's not like that!" Anabel shouted as her face filled with embarrassment. Then a certain memory came into the Salon Maiden's face like a slap to the face and she had to run to the bathroom before any of the frontier brains could stop her. She cried very violently in the bathroom as she was remembering a certain black haired trainer. Anabel couldn't help but thinking that she had known who Ace was. He looked familiar to Ash... He couldn't have been Ash.

"Ash... Where are you?" Anabel said as the tears didn't stop.

"So what is it that you wanted to talk to me about Scott?" Ash asked now being in the clear.

"First of all it is great to see you again. I am glad that you were able to come out of that incident unharmed. It was a real shame though what happened though."

"Look Scott I am grateful for having me here,but why is Anabel attending this school?"

"So you are only concerned about Anabel then?" Scott said trying to hold in his laughter.

"That's not what I meant Scott!" Ash now looking as red as a tomato.

"Well those two are still quite young and with their battle frontier status I figured more training and more exposure to the battle frontier wouldn't be too bad at all. But there is another reason to why I had her attend this school."Scott said with a more serious tone.

"What is that reason is that Scott?"

"Out of everyone that heard about your death, Anabel took it the hardest. She would always cry in her room and would lose battles all the time as a battle brain. I eventually had to have the challengers sent to Brandon to have her recover for a bit. If I didn't know better Ash..."

"You can stop right there Scott. I know.. Believe me I know."

Flashback after Ash conquered the battle frontier near a certain lake..

The sun shined brightly and the breeze was a gentle as a feather. It was a perfect day to be outside and two trainers easily took advantage of it. They were lying down on the grass and relaxing in the nice shade a tree provided. They watched their Pokemon run around and play.

"Hey Ash?" A purple haired girl asked.

"What's up Anabel? Something on your mind?"

"You are going to the Sinnoh region soon aren't you? Do you really have to go?" Anabel was hoping that Ash would want to stay, but then he wouldn't be Ash if he didn't go.

"Hmmm. Yeah I want to keep exploring and trying to become the best Pokemon master!" Ash exclaimed.

Ash's face glowed with enthusiasm. She knew it wasn't fair to keep Ash tied down and keep him from realizing his dream. And yet Annabel didn't want to see him leave yet. She wanted to stay with him for the rest of his life. Unexpectedly,Anabel started to cry.

"Whoa hey Anabel? What's wrong? Did I say something to upset you?" Ash,now worried that he hurt Anabel's feelings somehow. He grabbed her chin to make sure she stared right into his Amber eyes.

"I... Just... Don't... Want...You... To... Leave..." Anabel said between sobs.

Ash pulled Anabel into an embrace and patted her back to try and calm her down. Her tears took a long time but eventually she calmed down. He didn't realize that her feelings with him were so intense. He wanted to stay with her, but he wanted to at least travel to Sinnoh first and be done with the region before he came back to her.

"Anabel. Once I finish with the Sinnoh region. I will come back to you okay?" Ash asked with his signature smile.

"Promise me. Ash Ketchum promise me you will come back to me."

"I promise I will come back to you Salon Maiden Anabel."

End flashback.

"Well why didn't you return to Anabel then? You could have prevented her from having a rough time and you also knew her feelings for you." Scott asked.

"Well I would have if I could have. But something has been keeping me busy.

"I was also going to ask what you have been up to these past 7 years? The whole world thought you were dead."

"Yeah I know. Well after my loss at Sinnoh I was going to start on a new journey. That's when team rocket showed up and almost destroyed me. Since the accident I really didn't have many options... After what they did I swore that I would destroy Team Rocket so I went off training and started to learn about aura. With the help of a lucario,sensing that I had the legendary aura of Sir Aaron we trained to take team rocket down. I was able to defeat Giovanni with no problem and thus team rocket came to an end."

"Okay but that was only 4 years after your disappearance why didn't you go back? After all you defeating them was one of the greatest achievements ever known to man. I mean a 14 year old boy defeating a criminal organization all by themselves. Yet the papers said a 14 year old boy died with them."

"I just couldn't. Hey guys I left to destroy team Rocket and didn't even say anything to them. Not to mention that the papers told the world that a 14 year old boy died and a certain hat was left there. Everyone assumed it was me because of the hat. How could I just return and act like nothing happened? They have lives too. I couldn't just jump back in so I decided to help the Pokemon Rangers."

"How could they keep quiet about you by the way? Surely someone would have spotted you and should have called you out as Ash."

"I spoke with the boss and explained by situation. Eventually he agreed to give me the alias of Ace. Known as Ace to the organization I was accepted pretty easily and everyone didn't mind me keeping my identity a mystery. There was far too much crime to stop."

"What about Anabel? Didn't you promise her that you would return?"

"Yeah I did. It's just...I don't know. I wasn't sure how she would look at me now. I hurt her badly Scott. With my aura I am almost a different person from back then. I didn't know how she would take it all. Even now... I sensed that someone is after me Scott. I can't involve Anabel into someone trying to come after me."

"Well either way Ash they are worried about you. I hope that you will tell them that you are okay."

"Thanks Scott I think I need to head to the opening ceremony now so I will talk to you in a bit."

"Okay Ash I will try and find you after the ceremony then. Have fun out there. I look forward to the battle."Scott left with a grin on his face.

"I wonder what he meant by that..." Ash thought as he left the main reception area. Ash was walking to the main hall he didn't notice that there were others that were coming around the corner.

"AHHHH WATCH OUT!"

All of a sudden a blue haired figure crashed into Ash sending him straight onto the ground and the figure with him.

"Ouch. Sorry about that... Wait who are you?" The figure asked

"It's no problem. Now if you will excuse me I need to head to the ceremony." Ash stated.

"Dawn are you ok? I heard a thud and thought you may have fallen... Who the hell are you?" A purple haired figure asked.

"Oh for the love of..." Ash thought.

"PAUL! It's not what you think! I was just rushing to get back to you guys when I ran into this person!"

"Hmph. Well you going to tell us your name or you going to keep that cloak on?"

"It's Ace. My name is Ace."

"Ace huh. I will be sure to remember you. Come Dawn we are going to miss the ceremony."

"Ok Paul geez! Sorry about running into you Ace!"

As Paul and Dawn walked away Ash was still in shock on what he saw.

"Paul and Dawn huh. Dawn must have done something to him because he has changed a lot."

In the main hall over 300 students were standing and chatting away waiting for the actual ceremony to start. As Ash suspected,he saw a lot of old faces. He also saw a lot of older people sitting in the stands of the hall. Before he could identify all of them the lights went out and the main monitor began to shine.

"Hello freshmen. I would like to welcome you to my academy. I am the president of this academy. My name is Taylor Sen. For those who don't know I will explain what you are going to be doing for the next 3 years. For most of you, training, battling, and winning. This is the most elite academy and I intend to keep it that way. Moving on we are going a quick exhibition match between a teacher and a student to determine how your generation fairs against the world."

This confused main of the students. "There is no way we can talk on a teacher at this school! How do they expect us to beat an elite teacher at this school?"

"Will Ace please come to the main stage?"

"Shit. Figures, I knew Scott was up to something but I didn't expect this. Thankfully I have three Pokemon that nobody could recognize." Ash thought as he was walking up to the main stage.

"Who is that? Why is he wearing a cloak? Is he a criminal? No way a criminal couldn't come to this school." The hall said watching the mysterious trainer walk up to the main stage.

"Ace, I will just say this now. You better show me your worth to this academy." A distinct figure stated. He was rather old yet had an aura that the entire room felt. His green outfit and stern face was known throughout the Academy.

"Whoa seriously? There is no way we can beat that guy! The difference in skill is too much!"

"Well well. I never expected we would face so soon. So tell me, should I expected the same Pyramid King?" Ash asked.

Author's Note:Well how was the first chapter? I hope that it was good enough because I spent many times thinking about how I should go about the story. Yes this is abilityshipping and for now I don't plan on it being anything else. See you guys next time!

2. Chapter 2: Ash Vs Brandon

Author's Note:

Hello! I would first off like to say I appreciate the follows and favorites I have gotten over the last few days! I was honestly shocked and didn't think this story wouldn't do that well. What started off as an idea as turned into a good story for me. First battle writing hype! I hope that you guys enjoy this story as much as I have enjoyed writing it! Any reviews or comments are always welcome. Thanks for reading and stay awesome!

Chapter 2: Ash vs Brandon!

"I like your spirit boy. Let's just keep this a simple best of three series." Brandon was selecting his three Pokemon as the platforms were raised.

"Sounds fine to me." Ash thought about his three Pokemon and what Brandon was most likely platforms were raised and it was decided that a water field was selected. As the platforms slowed down Ash began to concentrate... And his aura flared into his eyes. He began to see all the different color signatures around the room. His hood managed to cover one of the eyes so nobody could see his aura. Someone in the stands felt this change and made sure to keep an eye on that mysterious trainer.

"This will be a three on three battle between Pyramid King Brandon and Ace. No substitutions are allowed by either side. Moves such as u-turn and volt switch are illegal. Now please select your Pokemon!"

"Regirock I need your assistance!"

"Milotic may your aura shine!"

As the rock Pokemon storms the field it looks towards its opposition. The aqua Pokemon shines and glistens the field. They examine their opponents and are ready for battle.

"Well you have the first move Ace! Come!"

"Use Hydro Pump!"

"Protect then Charge beam."

Milotic fires off a compression of water and manages to push Regirock against the wall causing a bit of knock back. The Rock Pokemon shoots a beam of electricity heading towards Milotic.

"Dodge then use Ice beam!"

Milotic tries it's best but it gets hit with the Charge beam. It is not enough though to stop her as a ice beam fires and hits the Rock Pokemon freezing it's leg. A cloud of dust surrounds Milotic as it gets hit by a Charge beam. All of a sudden a orange beam fires out and hits Regirock directly.

"Regirock!"

Everyone looks back at Milotic to see that it managed to fire Hyper beam. Regirock falls to one knee onto the ground after taking some significant amount of damage from the Hyper beam. It didn't take long though for Reigrock to wait for it's next command as it stood back up.

"Regirock Zap Cannon!"

"Milotic dive into the water! Then use Water Twister."

Regirock fires a ball of electricity and Milotic dodges the ball by diving into the water. A twister surrounds Milotic and she manages to make a typhoon. Combing the water and the twister it is launched at Regirock.

"Use focus blast to destroy that wind storm."

Waiting till the last minute the rock fires a charged blast that managed to break apart the typhoon but some of the water still managed to hit the Rock Pokemon.

"Regirock Thunder!"

"Milotic get out of the water quickly!"

Regirock charged a thunder and fired it straight onto the water. Milotic tries to escape but doesn't quite make it and has some of the thunder hit her.

Despite Milotic looking fine she was quite however looked at Regirock and saw he was quite tired as well. Both trainers knew that it was time to go all out with the next attack.

"Regirock use Iron Impact!"

"Milotic use Aqua impact!"

Both pokemon surround themselves purple glow. Regirock though has a steel coating and Milotic surrounds herself in water. They both charge at each other and a huge explosion forms in the middle of the battlefield. Both trainers cover themselves up and trying to see who won the battle. As the smokes dies down everyone is anxious to see who won that battle. It honestly could be a toss up of who won because both trainers used their finishing moves. However Ash saw the result already with his aura vision. Both Pokemon were both standing! They were definitely tired and beat up as they were panting and sweating hard. It only lasted for a few seconds though as Regirock is down for the count.

"Regirock is unable to battle! The winner is Milotic!"
>The hall stays silent until gradually everyone realizes that this Ace actually defeated a Pokemon against the King!

"Whoa awesome! This guy is amazing! Not to mention that his Pokemon still could have fought! This kid is in our class? Who said he was a criminal before?"

"Nice job Regirock. You did your best." Brandon said recalling the Rock Pokemon. He knew this Ace trainer had the potential to surpass all trainers before him. But... Brandon started to feel his own heartbeat. What was this feeling? Am I feeling nervous? No... My blood.. It's boiling. I haven't felt this way in a long time. The last time was... wait a minute it couldn't be.

"Milotic return. Great stuff. You did great out there." Despite Milotic not getting hit that much, Thunder definitely took a lot out of her. And Aqua impact was a new move that they had only just learned. So she wasn't quite used to the effects. That being said to take out one of Brandon's Regi's was a big accomplishment.

As both trainers were in their thought's the battlefield started to change from water to a rock battlefield. Because this was simply an exhibition the battlefield was changed for all three rounds of the battle.

"I must say I am impressed. You were able to defeat my Regirock with little issues. I wonder how you will fair against my next Pokemon. Registeel I need your assistance!"
>"Now Glaceon may your aura shine!"

As the steel giant and Ice eeveelution took the field Brandon was somewhat confused. "Why Glaceon? Does he not care about type? But this man I believe to be towards him never cared about type advantage either. Knowing him he has some strategy up his sleeve. I have to be on my guard."

Brandon is sure taking his time. "It couldn't be... has he started to see who I truly am? I didn't mean to show my unorthodox strategy to him. Glaceon was raring to go after seeing Milotic performance: Plus the Rock field for Glaceon is always a fun challenge.. I better hurry this battle up and make sure he doesn't know me." Ash thought.

"I think you should take the first move Brandon."

"Registeel Ancient Power"

"Use agility to dodge."

Registeel sent several rocks at the ice Pokemon but it was too quick. The rocks hit what looked like the afterimages of Glaceon. Registeel though began to glow. Brandon smiled has he achieved what he wanted. Ash had seen a glimpse of what Regirock was about to do with his Aura but he couldn't come up with a plan in time.

"Use earthquake to stop its movements"

The steel Pokemon smashes the ground and shakes the entire battlefield forcing Glaceon to stop moving and slam into one of the rocks from ancient power. The Glaceon cried as it hit the rock from all the momentum from the agility.

"Clever plan. Ancient power is a move where it has the chance to raise the all the stats of the Pokemon. He also laid out several rocks to limit Glaceon's movements so I can't use her speed. But there is something good that came out of it. If I want to win this battle then I need to use an old trick." Ash thought.

"Glaceon fire off some ice beams!"

Glaceon nodded as she fired several ice beams around the battlefield. The ice beams started to turn the battlefield into a frozen tundra. There were ice pillars and all the rocks on the battlefield now became frozen stones. Registeel managed to avoid most of ice beams by hiding behind a rock. Brandon couldn't get why he would freeze the field besides limiting Registeel's movements.

"Now Glaceon use some light iron tails and send those rocks moving!"

The rocks starting heading towards the steel pokemon and a few started to hit him. Brandon though was quick after.

"Registeel use brick break to destroy those rocks!"

Registeel's arms began to glow white and he broke apart all the frozen rocks that were heading towards him. Ash now looking at the Pokemon decided it was time for what he truly was aiming for.

"Glaceon use Blizzard!"

Brandon watched as his Registeel got hit by a snowstorm and... Shards of ice and rock?He finally realized why he froze the field. He wanted to make sure that Registeel couldn't avoid the blizzard and he only helped Ace by destroying the rocks and giving more material for Glaceon to work with. Which is why Ace wasn't even bothered by the types. The field gave him all he needed.

"Use Flash cannon!"

An enormous source of light was gathered and fired directly at Glaceon. However Ace couldn't command it to get away in time. Using all the rocks and ice with blizzard made the eeveelution very tired. Glaceon was sent flying back into the wall. Ash knew that both Pokemon didn't have much left.

"Glaceon use Ice pulse!"

"Registeel counter with Flash Beam!"

As the Glaceon jumped out of the wall it fired a water pulse and just as it was reaching it's target, she fired an ice beam directly onto to it. Registeel was charging a light source and fusing it with electricity before it fired at the Ice pulse. Another explosion happened right in front of Registeel and when it cleared Registeel was covered in an ice coating and had fainted.

"Registeel is unable to continue! Therefore the winner of this exhibition match is Glaceon and Ace!" The hall was silent. Very Silent. Before a huge uproar came from all the students.

"He actually won against the Pyramid King! No way! Who is this guy? Why haven't we heard about him before? He is a monster!"
>As everyone continued to praise this mysterious trainer, the upperclassmen stared at him with disbelief. Some had only managed to defeat only one of Brandon's Pokemon with a full team and yet this kid beat him with almost no problems at all. Others were curious about who he was and some were raring to go challenge him right there.

Brandon looked at his steel Pokemon and returned it to the Pokeball. "Good work my friend, that was excellent work." As he looked over to Ace he saw that he was walking onto the field congratulating the Glaceon on it's performance. "A kind yet fiery trainer. He cares about people just like Pokemon and he has the ability to pull you into the battle. I see before me someone that I thought was long gone." Brandon approached Ace and held out a hand.

"Well Congratulations Ace. Or should I say Ash?"

"I figured as much. I guess the secret is out then huh? However Brandon please don't tell anyone that I am still alive yet okay? I just need some time before I reveal myself to the public."

"Very well. I look forward to your battles in the future young man. And if you hurt Anabel again... Well things will get personal.."

"I understand what you are saying Pyramid King. I will do my best."

Ash then shook the Pyramid King's hand showing the sign of sportsmanship between the two.

Taylor sen then reappeared on the monitor again. Seeing his face everyone in the audience settled down.

"That is the type of battling we are going to be expecting of you Freshmen. A battle of wills, strategies,emotions, and most of all the bond between you and your Pokemon. I look forward to when the main tournament comes around. You are all dismissed. Classes begin tomorrow at 7:30am. Be sure to make it on time. DISMISSED!"

"I will see you soon Ace."

"Wait what do you mean" But by the time Ash finished his statement Brandon was already gone.

As everyone began to leave the main building and go to their dorms, Taylor sighed and went back to sit on his big chair in his office.

"So what did you think of him?" Taylor asked the figures covered by the darkness.

"Not bad for someone who went missing for seven years."

"He has talent but it is so wasted."

"MAN I JUST WANT TO CRUSH HIM RIGHT NOW!"

"Calm down now. The year at Silph Co Academy has only just begun. We need to watch his progress."

All the figures nodded in agreement. "Well then. This year's tournament is going to be the best one yet. Please provide me with some entertainment Ash."

As Ash was one of the last to leave the main building. He was thinking about his overall match with Brandon. "Overall I am happy with the result. But both matches were kinda close for my liking. I needed Milotic and Glaceon to use combination moves in order to finish off both of Brandon's Pokemon. Sure they are Legendary and I didn't have to use my third Pokemon... But still this means that we have a lot of training to do if we are meant to reach the top. It's going to be a long three years here. But I am glad I decided to come back here. Now I can walk the path of a trainer again." Ash thought has he was walking down the hall he saw a purple figure struggling to get down the hall. He knew who the figure was immediately and quickly turned around before the figure could see him. As he turned he was going back to his analysis of the match.

>THUMP
Ash turned around to see now that the figure was flat on the floor. It seemed that the figure passed out! "HEY YOU OKAY?" Ash yelled as he got near the figure. He took a few seconds to analyze the person who had now passed out on the floor.

"Well it looks like it was just fatigue. But still... These emotions that I am feeling. Anabel..." Ash's Aura also had the ability read the hearts of others. In this case with Anabel when he read her heart, he saw many memories of them. From the Battles, to the times on the lake. Ash couldn't reach any further into her heart as Scott quickly approached him.

"What happened? Ace is she doing okay?"

"Yeah she is doing fine. I was just walking down the hallway and all of a sudden she passed out."

"I see... Well it's been happening more and more lately... Anyways Ace why don't I take her off your hands? You go back to the dorm and get some rest."

Ash thought for a minute."I want to talk to Anabel at least. I feel she has the right to know where I have been. But now isn't the time. It would be best if for now I kept an eye on her." Then Ash got out of his thoughts.

"Yeah Scott that would be great. Thanks."

Ash gave Anabel over to Scott and walked out of the building. As he looked outside he wanted to just look at the stars for tonight. And let all of his team take a break. Dorms weren't really Ash's style anyways. Ash called out one of his most trusted Pokemon Charizard and flew around till he saw a place a little ways away from the campus. It was a nice and open clearing. Ash decided to let all of his Pokemon out and told them that they would be staying here for the night. While most of the Pokemon went to sleep right away, Ash was still awake looking at the stars pondering his thoughts. "Someone noticed my aura during that fight with Brandon. But who? And for another fact how?" These thoughts though would quickly be drained away by fatigue.

Author's Note: WOW that took a good amount of time. How was the first battle? I decided to combine a few moves that I thought would be much cooler to the battle. Obviously combining moves take more energy from the Pokemon but they deal a great amount of damage to their opponent. What moves do you think I should combine next? And what's your guys favorite Pokemon move? I personally like metronome because it can be so random haha. Put your thoughts into the comments. I am currently sick right now so the next few chapters aren't going to released as quickly. But I will do my best! Stay awesome guys!

Combined Moves:
>Water Twister- Basically water+ Twister
Iron Impact- Iron head+ Giga impact

Aqua Impact- Aqua jet+ Giga Impact

Ice pulse: Water pulse+ Ice beam

Flash Beam: Flash cannon+ Charge Beam
